

WEALTH OF THE NATION—Viewed in one way, federal government spending in the U.S. has risen astronomically in this century—from about half a billion dollars in 1900 to almost $108 billion last year. By another yardstick, however—per cent of gross national product—spending has increased only modestly. (GNP is the estimated total worth of all goods and services produced by the country.) As News-

Graphic shows, in 1900 federal expenditures amounted to about three per cent of GNP; in fiscal 1962 they were 19 per cent. The conclusion by economists is that federal spending since World War II has risen at a pace only moderately faster than that for the economy as a whole. Most of the spending has been for defense, but a growing amount goes into social programs. Data from U.S. Treasury Dept.

Don't Be Sheepish About Your Dreams: They're the Stuff History Is Made of

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Do you dream at night? Or, maybe in the daytime? Don't look sheepish if the answer to either question is Yes. People have been doing it literally and figuratively for centuries. As a matter of fact, this country of ours was founded some 187 years ago last Thursday as a result of a lot of men's and women's dreams.

Those people long ago were much like those of today. They had joys and sorrows, happiness and heartaches. But they also had a dream. It was a dream of better things for themselves and their loved ones. Sound families? True, a dream is only as good as the ones who are willing to work toward those kind of men and women. It is hard for many of us today to conceive of the dangers and hardships they were willing to endure to make their dream come true.

In many ways their dream has become almost a nightmare today. Their qualities of Fortitude and Sacrifice are usually regarded as somewhat quaint. We feel embarrassed at standing when the Stars and Stripes come into view on a movie screen. And how many of us can sing an entire verse — just one — of "The Star Spangled Banner"? When an all-out war confronts us, Americans are willing and able, if not always ready, to defend our homes and families. Why is it that it is so difficult to understand in a "cold war" just as much or even more stamina, intellect, and patriotism are needed for a victory?

The great truths we learn in our youth come to us wrapped up in people. What we read and hear has some effect, but the lessons we remember longest are those we observe in other people's lives.

In you and me lies the hope of the next generation. By our everyday living we tell others what we believe. Principles are best illustrated by actions, and we cast influence on others by the smallest acts whether we realize it or not.

Let us try to prevent patriotism from becoming lost arts. The eyes of the world are on us, as well as the eyes of our children, so let us try even harder.

Don't lose sight of your dreams, for we all have them. But put forth an honest effort to make them come true. Because we live in a country which celebrates its Independence Day the 4th of July that possibility can be obtained, provided we keep our ideals as high as the flags we fly.

Steel Strike Formula May Aid Railways

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is making a big effort to switch the railroad work rules dispute away from a threatened strike and onto the kind of a track that led to peace in the steel industry.

He has called for a decision Sunday on his unusual proposal for a temporary agreement, a two-year truce and study groups modeled after the steel industry's Human Relations Committee to search for a permanent solution.

The railroads and five operating unions—who have been fighting over work rules for four years—indicated they will study the matter thoroughly and give their answer in Wirtz' office Sunday.

That the unions' answer may be "no" was indicated Friday night in St. Louis when H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, labeled the proposal "unacceptable."

Gilbert said he spoke for himself and not the union, but added: "I don't see how the union can agree to it."

If the proposal is rejected, President Kennedy probably will send to Congress early next week emergency legislation to head off a nationwide rail strike, probably calling for compulsory arbitration of the dispute.

The railroads have announced plans to put new work rules into effect when the present bargaining deadline is reached at midnight Wednesday. The rules would eliminate thousands of jobs which the railroads say are unnecessary and cost about $600 million. They call such jobs "featherbedding."

The unions claim present rules must be maintained for safe operation of the trains. They said Friday they will call an immediate strike if the new rules are put into effect.

Wirtz told a news conference Friday he had suggested that both sides agree to the terms laid down in May by a presidential emergency board for settlement of what he called "the two most currently active issues in this conflict"—removal of 40,000 firemen from freight and yard trains and the makeup of train crews other than those in the engine cab.

The board called for elimination of the firemen's jobs by attrition, with each job subject to negotiation, and establishment of a system of arbitration for non-engine crew makeup.

In the 20-day negotiating period proposed by Wirtz, efforts would be made to clear up details left vague by the presidential board. This period would begin Sunday, with Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds authorized to make a binding decision for a "temporary" two-year contract on each point which was not settled during the 20 days.

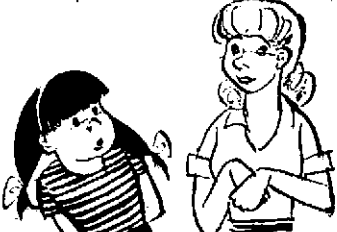

If a two-year contract is agreed on, study groups would be set up to work during the 24 months toward a permanent settlement. A group of two union and two railroad representatives would be established for each unsettled question. The groups would be given authority to make binding recommendations for a permanent settlement.

If no unanimous agreement could be reached before the end of a two-year contract, Wirtz called for the naming of three neutral members to make recommendations.

The Human Relations Committee was established in the steel industry after a lengthy strike in 1959. Through its operations, a settlement was reached last year without a strike and the contract was extended last month while it still had a year to run.

Unions involved in the dispute, representing 200,000 on-train employees, are three AFL-CIO unions—the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Switchmen's Union of North America and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Trainmen — and the independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

Communism Spells War, Say Chinese

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — The great show-down battle for control of world communism opened Friday in a secret session of big Soviet and Chinese Communist delegations.

Main point of the struggle is the Chinese contention that the Russians are wrong in saying that communism can be spread without a war. Premier Khrushchev insists they can bury the West without violence.

Chinese Communist Premier Zhou En-lai sent a high-powered delegation headed by theorist Teng Hsiao-ping to argue for a tougher line. The outcome could determine the future of hundreds of millions of persons for years to come.

Western observers expected a draw, with both parties sticking to their own views.

The Chinese are expected to demand that a conference of all the world's Communist parties pick the winner in a free vote. The Russians have indicated they are in no mood for such a meeting now.

A crisis atmosphere surrounded the talks after a premeeting exchange of polemics between the two Communist giants. The Soviet Union fired a twin government-Communist party salvo on Thursday accusing the Chinese of lying, meddling and aggravating relations. The Chinese angrily rejected the charges.

But the tempers were not in evidence when chief Soviet negotiator Mikhail Suslov met the Chinese at the airport. Everything was smiles and flowers.

The Chinese were armed with instructions from Peking to stand firm on the basic issue of who should have the right to interpret the principles laid down by Vladimir I. Lenin, founder of the Soviet state.

The Chinese openly have challenged Khrushchev's leadership of the Communist world, and have even dared go directly to the Soviet people with their argument. Their efforts to put across their hard ideological line—by distributing leaflets attacking Khrushchev — got three Chinese diplomats and two students expelled from the Soviet Union last week.

Forecaster Was Right as Rain

CLEETHROPES, England (AP) — The Town Council rehired weatherman Raymond Comray today after firing him because he made too many correct forecasts.

"He was always forecasting rain," said a council spokesman "and the trouble was — he was nearly always correct."

Cleethropes is a seaside resort. Business is good only when the weather is good.

For the last three days the forecast from London said rain for Cleethropes. Instead there was sunshine.

"Mr. Comray feels we're in for a spell of sunshine," said the spokesman. "But whether we are or not, we've decided his forecasts are better than the other ones and the customers insist on forecasts."

Things That a Columnist Might Never Know If He Didn't Open His Mail

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

A throat specialist says executives with tenor voices often strain their vocal cords by trying to bark commands in baritone. Why? Because the public expects executives to have deep voices. Most deaf people are immune to motion sickness. Some 7.9 million U.S. households now have two or more cars.

The Hatless Kennedy Hit by British

By EDDY GILMORE E

LONDON (AP) — A British fashion magazine today stepped up its campaign to persuade President Kennedy to wear a hat and pointedly asked him how a hatless man can properly greet a lady.

"How does the President acknowledge such an encounter?" asked Tailor and Cutter in an editorial, which the editor said he was sending to the White House.

Tailor and Cutter is recognized here as an arbiter of good taste in men's clothing and, in some cases, men's manners.

Speculating on how Kennedy greets ladies, the magazine suggested he might do it with: A brief and curious bow.

A hearty handshake.

A blade crushing slap on the back.

"Or," added the magazine, "that peculiarly American greeting—the flat palm of the hand sliding upwards and outwards across the greeter's face and the cheerful injunction, 'Hi!'"

The magazine said none of these would do—especially if the President greeted someone such as Queen Elizabeth II—and suggested:

"The deft touch of a raised hat, politely pinched between thumb and forefinger and held for a hesitant moment over the wearer's heart, would bring a bright spark of gallantry to those modern diplomatic moves which seem to have lost so much of their old world glamor in the current rush for time-saving practicalities."

Hot and Dry Forecast on Week-End

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered showers and thunderstorms brought some relief to portions of northeast Arkansas this morning, but crop-killing heat continued to plague farmers in the rest of the state.

Fourth of July temperatures rocketed to a record 104 degrees, hottest since 1926 when it was 103. Temperatures today were expected to reach 102, the record for July 5 set in 1954.

The outlook was for more hot weather through Saturday, despite a chance of isolated afternoon and evening thundershowers. Clear to partly cloudy skies were expected to continue through Saturday.

Minimum temperatures generally were in the high 60s to the mid 70s and were expected to be about the same tonight.

The five day forecast called for temperatures to average four to eight degrees above the normal highs of 88 to 94 and the normal lows of 67 to 72.

Isolated thundershowers were expected to produce up to one inch of rain in some areas during the five-day period, but the Weather Bureau said there was little chance of significant rainfall in the parched areas of northwest Arkansas.

Goldwater Hot Choice in Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles H. Percy, the only announced candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois, says Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., would carry the state in a presidential election.

"I would support him," Percy, 43, who is making his first bid for public elective office, said in a taped radio program.

Iraq Says Rebels Are Defeated

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Iraqi government claimed today a major victory over the rebel Kurds of Mullah Mustafa Barzani in northeastern Iraq, saying it forced the rebels to within 20 miles of the Iranian border.

The claim was made by Baghdad radio on the 25th day of operations against the Soviet-trained tribal leader, who seeks to establish a Kurdish state in Iraq's oil-rich northern area.

DeGaulle Will Not Back Down

By JOHN WEYLAND

BONN, Germany (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle Friday refused to modify his policies on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Common Market in the interests of the new French-West German treaty of cooperation.

De Gaulle and his ministers returned by special plane to Paris after two days of consultations in Bonn, the first held under the provisions of the treaty. The next round will take place in six months.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his government used the occasion to try to lessen the differences separating France from the United States and other Western nations. This was in line with West German support for President Kennedy's policies. No progress was made, according to available indications.

The West German hope that France would reconsider withdrawing its fleet from NATO was ignored. French spokesman Claude Lebel said at a concluding joint news conference that he had not even heard about it.

No help was given to the movement for greater European unity, which is dear to Adenauer's heart. West German press chief Karl Guenther von Hase told the news conference that it appeared "the time is not right to take the initiative in this matter."

The two countries could make no progress on grain prices, a dispute blocking a unified agricultural price policy for the Common Market embracing France, Germany, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. It was agreed that nothing should be done pending a new expert's report.

Senate Holds a 3-Second Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate set a record today by meeting for just three seconds solely to record an adjournment to Tuesday noon.

It was a token session arranged to get through the post Fourth of July holiday and weekend and still comply with the rule forbidding a recess of more than three days, not counting Sundays, unless the Senate gets formal permission of the House.

Portuguese Snubbed on Angola

GENEVA (AP) — The Portuguese delegate was barred today from the U.N.-sponsored International Conference of Public Education because of his government's colonial policy in Angola.

Fernando de Alcantara Pereira, Portugal's permanent delegate to international organizations in Geneva, protested to the conference president, Bedrettin Tuncel of Turkey, and said his government would raise the issue before the International Court of Justice.

The 96-nation meeting Thursday adopted an African resolution expelling Portugal. Pereira called the vote illegal and returned to the afternoon session, causing all African, Arab and Soviet bloc delegates to walk out.

Pereira again returned this morning on instructions from his government. Conference officials stopped him in the hall and told him that Tuncel considered his expulsion a legal decision.

U.S.A. Now Boasts of 70 Million Jobs

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time, the United States has 70 million jobs—almost two decades after Henry A. Wallace stirred a fuss by predicting 60 million.

The Department of Labor reports that the 70 million total was reached in June. U.S. employment passed 60 million 15 years ago.

Wallace, vice president when he made his prediction, figured 60 million jobs would be the result of full employment. Statistics released Friday showed that the 70 million jobs did not mean full employment. Teen-agers looking for jobs pushed the unemployment total to 4.8 million.

Harold Goldstein, spokesman for the department, said employment in June swelled to 70.3 million. The unemployment rate, despite the increase in unemployed, fell from 5.9 per cent in May to 5.7 per cent in June. This rate always is seasonally adjusted.

Wallace, now a farmer in South Salem, N.Y., wrote a book titled "60 Million Jobs" when he was vice president. It was published in 1945. The Democrats, who nominated Harry S. Truman to replace Wallace as the vice presidential candidate, used that slogan in the campaign of 1944.

Wallace's idea was that the United States, after World War II, should mobilize its resources to keep full employment. There were predictions that the United States, as it dismantled its wartime machinery, would see a good deal of unemployment.

"The essential idea," Wallace wrote in a magazine article, "is that the federal government is ultimately responsible for full employment and can discharge its responsibility only by planning in advance to synchronize all of its programs with the programs of private enterprise so that the whole national income will be maintained at the full-employment level."

In June 1948, U.S. employment hit 60 million. The department said the increase in unemployment from May to June — 800,000 — was accounted for by teen-agers looking for summer work.

The department said there are 1.9 million teen-agers looking for jobs, almost 40 per cent of the unemployed.

1962-63 Good Fiscal Year in Arkansas

By LEN TALIAFERRO

Associated Press Staff Writer

The business and industrial world ended its fiscal year last Sunday and in Arkansas there is reason for the kind of New Year's celebration that marks the end of the calendar year.

Fiscal 1962-63 was in most areas a good year for Arkansas business.

The state government—the biggest business—had a record total income of $325,817,101, an increase of more than $28 million. General revenues hit a new peak of $117,012,250.

Much of the new money was contributed by new industry. The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission said in its year-end report that 90 new plants located in the state during the year, creating 12,303 new jobs.

Another 6,917 jobs were created by 115 expanding plants, opening a record total number of 19,220 new jobs during the 1962-63 fiscal year.

New jobs mean new money, and the AIDC said those created by industrial openings have a payroll equivalent of $57,660,000. Most of this money will be spent for normal consumer outlets but $2,850,000 will go into the state treasury as tax money.

The fact that 115 industries did well enough during the fiscal year to expand their operations is another indication that the past 12 months were good ones.

The AIDC said new jobs were opening faster than old ones were closing and that many of those that closed were due to technical advances for which new ones opened.

Another sign pointing to a good year in 1962 was a drop in unemployment. The federal Reserve Bank at St. Louis said unemployment decreased from four per cent in July 1962 to 2.7 per cent in May of 1963.

Business loans and bank deposits also increased during the year. The Federal Reserve Bank reported. The increase in business loans went from $36 million in July 1962 to $41 million in July 1963.

Much of the new money in the state is located in areas which were at one time solely agricultural.

In addition to new money from private industry, the state received $89,851,640 in federal money, mostly for highway projects and welfare. Highways took the biggest chunk—$76,082,054.

Other federal money was spent in the state for river projects and federal payrolls.

Col. Charles D. Maynard, district engineer for the Little Rock District of the Army Engineers said in his annual report that the agency paid out a record $58,746,154 in the fiscal year.

The money is being used for construction of locks and dams on the Arkansas River which will make the river navigable to Little Rock by 1967 and will provide another income source for the state. Federal money was also spent for Greers Ferry and Beaver

British Reporter Out of Jail

LONDON (AP)—Reporter Brendan Mulholland walked to freedom today after four months in jail for refusing to break the newsman's unwritten code — never divulge secret news sources.

The columnist for the London Daily Mail was cheered by crowds of fellow newsmen as he stepped through the gates of a prison in Sussex.

Mulholland originally had been sentenced to six months in jail for refusing to say who told him that William John Vassall was a known homosexual.

Vassall, an admiralty clerk, was convicted of spying for Russia.

Dallas Meet of Baptists Draws 8,000

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Nearly 8,000 delegates to the Southern Baptist Evangelistic Conference saw thousands vow to become "better soul winners" Sunday.

Dr. C. E. Autry, director of the Southern Baptist Evangelism Division, Nashville, Tenn., closed the three-day meeting with a stirring sermon.

Autry said people may be wrong about baptism, the second coming of Christ and other doctrines, but they must not be wrong about "the new birth."

"As a sinner turns, by the help of God, from his sins, God makes him new. That is the new birth," the evangelist said.

Autry said no amount of religious activity or church work can take the place of "this new birth."

Nearly 1,000 delegates fanned across Dallas Sunday to reach residents not affiliated with any church. Many converts were reported.

Autry made a plea for laymen in the audience last night to become consistent and "better soul winners." About 2,500 responded by going to the front of the speaker's platform.

More than 100 came forward when Autry asked for those who had "Decisions for Christ" during the conference.

The evangelistic conference was characterized by a fiery display of preaching on the world's spiritual, social and racial problems. Total attendance exceeded 10,000.

The conference set the stage for concerted revivals in March and April of 1964, a year in which Southern Baptists say they will seek to convert from 600,000 to a million non-Christians.

McKinley Is Winner at Wimbledon

By ROBERT JONES
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Charles Chuck McKinley, a compact tennis midget, brought the Wimbledon men's singles crown back to the United States after an eight-year absence Friday with a 9-7, 6-1, 6-4, victory in the finals over Fred Stolle, a tall, bonde bank clerk from Sydney, Australia.

McKinley, a St. Louis boy who calls Texas his home now, also broke a three-year Australian stranglehold on the title, muscularly gliding in amateur tennis. He had before swept to victory before he endured 35 minutes of battering from the power-stroking Stolle that would have wilted a lesser tennis player.

Tony Trabert, the Cincinnati sailor, was the last American-born star to capture the title, although Peruvian Alex Onegedo who played for the U.S. in the Davis Cup won in 1959. Trabert, now the chief spokesman for the touring pro tennis players, promptly offered McKinley $50,000 for the first year to turn pro—and McKinley just as promptly turned it down. He said he wanted to finish his mathematics course at Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas.

McKinley returns to school in September and will not finish until January. His next assignment is with the U.S. Davis Cup team. Billie Jean Moffitt, a 5-foot-6 chatterbox in horned rim glasses, gets a chance to make it an American Wimbledon sweep Saturday, when she battles top seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, who stands four inches taller.

The 6-foot-3 Stolle had seven inches on his American rival, and for the first 14 games of the match he reeled off a succession of hammer blows.

But Chuck, 155 pounds of bounce and acrobatic agility, held on, retrieving impossible shots and salvaging his service games after falling behind again and again.

Then, so suddenly that it took the 18,000 crowd by surprise, it was Stolle who cracked.

At 7-7 and 40-15 on his serve, Stolle double faulted—as he was to do six times in the match. Then McKinley lofted a lob just inches inside the corner that caught Stolle charging in. He scuttled back and fluffed it, for duce.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By IRMA SCHMIDT

Bradford Jones dressed with meticulous care.

He was lucky, he decided. Working summers on his uncle's farm had developed his tall, muscular body. Though not truly handsome, his face had a sort of rugged beauty. Dark brown eyes were set off by his somewhat lighter hair. Even his name suited an actor. His mother had always said that with a name as plain as Jones he had needed a fancy first name, so she had named him Bradford.

All this self-appraisal was done without vanity. An actor's looks are his stock in trade just as a machinist's tools or a doctor's instruments are theirs.

He began whistling a happy tune as he ran down the stairs. Tonight was special. Tonight he had a date with Pamela Carleton. "Who is Pamela?" he sang under his breath. Who, indeed?

Only the most gorgeous model in New York. She could date anyone she chose. He knew why she had agreed to go out with him. When a mutual friend had introduced them Pamela had seemed impressed with the fact that he was an actor.

Later at the restaurant with Pamela sitting opposite him at a table, Brad had a thought which came quick as lightning. "This is the girl I'm going to marry." The thought

Throughout the ages man has had his struggle. Ambition kindles a fire that sends him in search of higher and greater achievements. Too bad if his course deviates and his efforts become knotted in unethical procedure. If we are to attain higher ground—if we are to scale the heights placed before us—then our efforts must be seasoned with the highest moral intent. It is all too simple to get along when we compromise with evil and set up our code of rotten rules for attaining our selfish, material desires. If this man's climb is to be really successful—his efforts crowned with glory—he will need God as his guide in his struggle. You need the help of the church in your struggle.
